REGISTRATION BROCHURE

PRESIDENT'S INVITATION

On behalf of the SAPNA committee
I invite you all to the 2021 State Conference

GREAT EXPECTATIONS POWER OF CONNECTIONS

This year we are back at the stunning Adelaide Oval. The program is shaping up to be one of our best, showcasing many different and diverse opinions within perioperative nursing.

Without the support of our Health Trade Partners, a conference of this size, and low cost to members, would not be possible. I wish to especially thank all our Health Trade Partners.

Registration for the conference is now open.

As members you are able to access all of this educational and networking content at an affordable cost. Encourage your colleagues and friends to attend with you—if they join SAPNA they can also receive the great benefits you currently enjoy.

I look forward to seeing many of you in September.

Cathie Hashemi
SAPNA President

CONFERENCE SPONSORS

GUEST SPEAKERS

Oksana
Samkova

Oksana Samkova is an International Speaker, Thought Leader and Author on Compassion Fatigue and Vicarious Trauma in frontline workers.

Ukrainian born, she worked in four countries as a nurse and lived in such places as Russia, Mongolia, Africa and England. Oksana has 2 beautiful sons and moved to Australia in 2015 to live her dream.

As a Registered Perioperative Nurse with more than 25 years experience Oksana found herself burnt out from the job she loved and paid the price of undiagnosed Vicarious trauma.

Her passion is to help frontline workers to recognise early the effects of high level of repetitive stress and create a healthy work-life balance.

Oksana's 7 step RESHAPE process will teach you practical strategies to combat the effects of Compassion Fatigue and Vicarious Trauma.

In her spare time, Oksana trains for a marathon and scuba dives.

Khadija
Gbla

Khadija Gbla is a very passionate and inspiring young African Australian woman.

She is an award winning human rights activist, inspirational speaker, facilitator and consultant.

She has displayed great courage and determination in achieving her aspirations of giving women, youth and minority groups a voice at a local, state and international level.

She is dedicated to her voluntary work and has utilised every opportunity to further her involvement in the community.

Khadija wishes to inspire others to accept the differences in our multicultural society and with that make a difference in our society.

Khadija utilises her powerful and inspired voice to advocate equality and acceptance within her community.

She has become an optimistic and passionate representative of the African community.

Derrick McManus

Derrick McManus epitomises achievement and defying all odds and is backed by University research into the Durability of Human Performance.

Derrick was an Australian Police Sniper, Diver and Counter-Terrorist operative when he was shot 14 times in less than 5 seconds, lying on the ground for three hours before he could be rescued. Doctors don't know how he survived and predicted he would never return to work.

In Derrick's line of work, his ability to respond decisively and positively to challenge, make decisions and take action under pressure and lead his team in high-risk and uncertain times make are the difference between success and failure.

All medical predictions said Derrick would struggle to merely walk properly and he would never return to work. The fact that Derrick defied all the odds and made a full return as a Sniper, Diver and Counter-terrorist operative is pure inspiration alone.

Derrick has now developed a world first philosophy of 'Durability of Human Performance', which goes well beyond resilience. Derrick's distinction between resilience and Durability is so significant that the School of Psychology; University of South Australia is collaborating with him in research. Durability of Human Performance is about being able to sustain optimum performance under pressure. Durability is cutting edge research into human psychology and performance.
